

Summer Reading Challenge Volunteer Role Description

The Summer Reading Challenge is a successful and popular campaign run by the Reading Agency and supported by libraries to engage and encourage children to keep reading through the school summer holidays, with a series of fun and exciting activities and challenges.

Children earn stickers and other rewards, with a certificate for everyone who completes the challenge of reading six library books.

Volunteering is a vital part of the campaign as volunteers are needed to help sign up children in libraries, explain how the reading challenge works, spend time talking to them about the books they have read and handing out rewards and incentives at the end of the challenge.
